Cookies & IP Addresses

We use your IP address and website cookies to analyse your use of this website, and for internet advertising purposes. These bits of information allow us to track how you use our website as an individual, but don't give us personal data like your name, email address or phone number. You are opted out of cookie tracking by default.

When you provide consent, we analyse user behaviour on this website to improve our services, the user experience of the website and our marketing activities. We may also use public & proprietary IP address lookup tables to identify your organisation, if you're browsing on behalf of a company, to check your customer history and offer you the best possible service as an existing or prospective customer. In some limited cases i.e. single person companies, it may be possible to identify personal data from publicly available ICANN data.

6. Retention Periods

We store data on you for different lengths of time depending on the type of user you are and your relationship with the company. We use a combination of criteria to determine how long we keep the different types of data we hold on you.

Some data is required to be held by law and to fulfil our contractual obligations with both you as a customer, and the awarding bodies we work with to certify your qualifications. In other situations, we store your data for as long as we believe there is a legitimate mutual interest between us, as an existing or prospective customer. You have certain rights under the GDPR to remove, transfer or change this data – please see the 'Your Data Rights' section for more information'.

7. Direct Marketing

If allowed by the Applicable Law and/or your consent, we may contact you from time to time to provide you with information which we think you may find of interest, unless you have opted out of such contact.

You can contact us at any time to withdraw your details and consent to processing from our marketing database, by contacting info@lcel.co.uk.

We will not make available or sell your information to third parties for marketing purposes. However, if we sell, assign or transfer the assets of our business, or if our business is merged or enters into a joint venture with another business entity, we reserve the right to sell or transfer the database maintained by us (including any personal information provided by you).

8. Suppliers and Sub-processors

In order for us to provide you with great quality Health and Safety training and an enjoyable browsing experience, we sometimes use services provided by other companies to assist us. These suppliers range from operational (e.g. our accountants), product (e.g. our service providers), to technical (e.g. our Web Hosting provider, online payment providers).

Where necessary, we may share your personal data with these companies for processing in order to fulfil certain services. This is always done in a secure, confidential manner and your data is only held with the company for as long as is necessary in each case. The organisations will also always have appropriate technical and organisational methods in place to protect your data.

A full list of these providers, the personal data they hold, why we send them this data and the length of time they hold the data for can be obtained if required by contacting info@lcel.co.uk.

We may also disclose personal information where information is part of a due legal process and otherwise required or permitted by law.

9. Location and International Transfers

Your data is largely held and processed within the EEA, however some of our third-party suppliers, such as hosting providers and other technology focused service providers, are based in the USA and so store and process data within the USA.

In these cases, the companies subscribe to the EU-US Data Privacy shield program (<https://www.privacyshield.gov/welcome>), which aims to ensure USA based business comply with relevant European Data Protection regulations when dealing with European businesses' personal data.

By submitting your data and agreeing to this policy you agree to this transfer, storing or processing.

10. Security

We employ technical and organisational measures to protect the information provided by you from access by unauthorised persons and against unlawful processing.

This is achieved through a wide range of methods, including but not limited to: data encryption where appropriate, risk analysis, staff training, internal information security policies and other methods recommended under the GDPR.

All third party data processors that we use (as described in section 7, ‘Suppliers and Sub-processors’), have also confirmed that they employ the technical and organisational methods needed to keep your data safe and secure.

Other Collectors of Information

Except as otherwise expressly included in this Privacy Policy, this document only addresses the use and disclosure of information we collect from you. To the extent that you disclose your information to other parties, different rules may apply to their use or disclosure of the information you disclose to them. To the extent that we use third party advertisers, they adhere to their own privacy policies. Since we do not control the privacy policy of any third party, you are subject to the privacy policy of that third party.

11. Your Data Rights

We adhere to all rights given to individuals under the GDPR. To exercise any of these rights with the personal data we hold on you, please contact info@lcel.co.uk or write to:

Low Cost E-Learning Ltd, Spectrum House, Beehive Ring Road, Gatwick, West Sussex, United Kingdom, RH6 0LG

Subject Access Requests

This is your right to request a copy of the information that we hold about you. If you would like a copy of some or all your personal information, please email us at info@lcel.co.uk with sufficient information to enable us to identify you. We will respond to your request within one month of receipt of the request.

Updating and Correcting Information

We want to make sure your personal information is accurate and up to date. You may ask us to correct or remove information you think is inaccurate.

Objections to processing of personal data

It is your right to lodge an objection to the processing of your personal data if you feel the “ground relating to your particular situation” apply. The only reasons we will be able to deny your request is if we can show compelling legitimate grounds for the processing, which override your interest, rights and freedoms, or the processing is for the establishment, exercise or defence of a legal claims.

Data Portability

It is also your right to receive the personal data which you have given to us, in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format and have the right to transmit that data to another controller without delay from the current controller if:

- (a) The processing is based on consent or on a contract, and
- (b) The processing is carried out by automated means.

Right to be Forgotten

Should you wish for us to completely delete all information that we hold about you for, please either email info@lcel.co.uk or write to:

Low Cost E-Learning Ltd, Spectrum House, Beehive Ring Road, Gatwick, West Sussex, United Kingdom, RH6 0LG

Please note that if the personal data you wish to delete is needed for lawful purposes and/or contractual fulfilment, it may not be possible for us to remove this.

12. Complaints

If you believe we have processed your data unfairly or unlawfully, you have the right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority, such as the Information Commissioner's Office within the UK – <https://ico.org.uk/>.

13. Changes to this Policy

We may need to change this Privacy Policy over time. We will post changes to this Privacy Policy to the website when such changes are necessary. All amended terms shall automatically be effective immediately after they are initially posted on the website.
